

DEPARTMENT
OF
LIFELONG LEARNING
ORGANISES
TWO DAYS WORKSHOP ON

“DATA ANALYSIS WITH SPSS”
18TH - 19TH JAN 2023

Department of Lifelong Learning, University of Jammu is offering Masters of Rural Studies, which is field based to harness the capabilities of the learners through the hands on training from the rural areas that contribute comprehensively towards the life of the rural society.
In addition to Masters Program the department is offering various programs to the learners to strengthen teaching and learning processes through formal and non formal educational methods.

Research is a systematic process with immense potential to question and analyze the existing theories in accordance to the present circumstances. In this regard, statistical package for social sciences (SPSS) is a software program used by researchers in various disciplines for quantitative analysis of complex data. It is the most widely used software for statistical analysis and its knowledge can help in answering the following questions:

- What is SPSS?
- How to enter data in SPSS?
- What are different commands to analyze the data with SPSS?
- How to conduct parametric & non-parametric tests with SPSS?
