

Poetry Symposium organized at University of Jammu 29th August, 2019.

The University of Jammu hosted the "Wings of Verse: A Multilingual Poetry Symposium," organized by the Centre for New Literature, Culture, and Communication in collaboration with the Kunwar Vyogi Memorial Trust. Dr. Meenakshi Kilam, Registrar JU, graced the occasion as the chief guest, applauding the organizers for providing a platform for students to nurture their literary talents. Emphasizing the holistic development of young minds, she pledged ongoing support from the University for such Enriching Activities. Prof. Dr. Monika Sethi, Head of the Department of English, outlined the event's purpose and structure, highlighting its significance in fostering literary engagement. Ayushman Jamwal, representing the KVMT, shed light on the Trust's initiatives. The symposium showcased poetry recitals in six languages—Hindi, English, Urdu, Dogri, Gojri, and Punjabi—by students and scholars from various university departments. Mr. Ayushman Jamwal moderated the event, interjecting with his own poetic compositions. Scholars from the English department recited renowned sonnets by Kuwar Vyogi, while students excelling in cultural, literary, and sports activities were honored. The event concluded with a vote of thanks from Mr. Ayushman Jamwal, with distinguished guests including Prof. Satnam Kour Raina, Prof. Sucheta Pathania, and Dr. Sadaf Shah among others in attendance. The proceedings were conducted by Nazish Nawaz Wani.
