

STUDENTS OF THE DEPARTMENT OF ZOOLOGY, JAMMU UNIVERSITY CELEBRATE TEACHER'S DAY

During the Teachers' Day celebrations at the University of Jammu's Department of Zoology, faculty members, led by Prof. Seema Langer, participated in a cake-cutting ceremony. This gesture symbolized unity and appreciation for the department's educators.

On Teachers' Day, Professor (Dr) Seema Langer shared her thoughts about the significance of the day. She emphasized the crucial role that teachers play in shaping the lives of students and building the future of society. Highlighting the dedication and contributions of educators, she mentioned that teachers inspire, guide, and nurture students to become responsible citizens. The event featured various performances, including dance, music, and drama, as a tribute to their teachers. One of the highlights of the celebration was a fun-filled musical chair game, specially arranged for the faculty members. This playful activity added a light-hearted touch to the event, allowing teachers to relax and enjoy a break from their usual academic roles. The celebration at the Department of Zoology included heartfelt acknowledgments for the faculty's efforts in mentoring students and contributing to academic excellence.
